

ABSTRACT

A latch assembly to secure an access door on the housing of an electronic device.

When a conventional locking device is coupled with the housing to deter theft of the electronic device as a whole, the latch assembly will maintain the access door in a closed position and deter theft of any component accessible via the access door.

TOP SECRET//SI//REL TO USA, FVEY